Statement from Chairman Biane on the investigation of the Assessor's Office

"All of us in County government and in the public should avoid speculation and allow the investigative process to run its course. The County cannot comment on the active investigation involving the Assessor's Office.

The County can assure the public that there is no indication either the subject of the investigation or the investigation itself involves or will have an impact upon the efficient operation of the Assessor's functions.

My office will remain in contact with the Assessor's office to ensure that the Assessor's functions continue to remain unaffected by the investigation."
